Inflation refers to a broad rise in the prices of goods and services across the economy, eroding purchasing power for consumers and businesses. In other words, the same amount of money-purchasing power will differ from 10 years ago. For example, in 2005, the average cup of coffee cost RM0.80; by 2023, it had climbed to RM2.50. In 2000, with the RM10, you can buy 12 cups of coffee versus 4 cups in 2023. The situation shows what the inflation is. Inflation is not limited to any single item or service; it may refer to increased prices across an industry sector and, ultimately, a country's economy.
